1. Qualitative Information on Consolidated Performance for the Nine Months of Fiscal 2026

(1) Explanation of Consolidated Operating Results

During the nine months of fiscal 2026 (January 1, 2026–September 30, 2026), despite a continuous moderate recovery in the Japanese economy, it is necessary to keep a close eye on the impact of the situation in the Middle East. There are signs of recovery in personal consumption backed by a moderate increase in the real wage income of employees.

In the domestic cosmetics market, the market size excluding inbound demand has remained generally in line with that of the same period of the previous year. Regarding inbound demand, although the number of visitors to Japan decreased year on year, it has recently remained at a high level. In the Chinese cosmetics market, consumer spending has continued to increase year on year, and the market has remained generally steady.

Within this market environment, as part of its medium-term management plan (from 2024 through 2026) that started in 2024, the POLA ORBIS Group (the "Group") implemented four business growth strategies, namely, "strengthen the customer base in the domestic business to achieve sustainable growth and improve profitability," "further grow the overseas business and establish business bases in new markets," "achieve profitability through growth in brands under development, contributing to sustainable earnings," and "enhance the brand portfolio and expand business domains." At the same time, in an effort to sustainably strengthen the management foundations that will support these strategies, the Group has worked to "strengthen R&D capabilities for new value creation" and "strengthen sustainability combining the resolution of social issues with uniqueness."

Consolidated net sales for the nine months of fiscal 2026 increased 1.3% year on year to ¥126,672 million, due to foreign exchange effects. Operating profit increased 21.3% year on year to ¥14,499 million due to an increase in gross profit resulting from higher net sales, in addition to appropriate expense control, among other factors. Ordinary profit increased 41.7% year on year to ¥15,908 million due to the impact of foreign exchange gains and losses. As a result of the factors noted above, affected by the recording of expenses involved in the business restructuring expenses and other factors, profit attributable to owners of parent increased 20.0% year on year to ¥9,182 million.

Beauty Care

The Beauty Care segment consists of the flagship brands POLA and ORBIS, the overseas brand Jurlique, and the brands under development DECENCIA, THREE and FUJIMI.

POLA is working to rebuild a business base to return to a growth trajectory. In the domestic business, we are working to improve profitability by expanding the stores on a growth track through enhancing customer experience value in the salon channel, and by completing the full renewal of the premium series, B.A. Stores on a growth track in the salon channel, the e-commerce channel, and the hotel amenities channel performed strongly, and unit purchase price also rose due to the strong performance of the B.A series. Meanwhile, overall performance in the domestic business fell below that of the previous year due to factors such as tighter restraints placed on shipping for secondary distribution aimed at enhancing brand value, and a decrease in inbound sales. In the overseas business, we are working to enhance our brand presence in China, our priority market, by expanding contact points with high-prestige customers and strengthening CRM. In China, renewed products in B.A series performed strongly, and sales grew primarily in the e-commerce channel. In addition, sales through the duty-free channel performed strongly, primarily driven by the key products in B.A series, resulting in the overall performance in the overseas business exceeding the results of the previous year. As a result, although the POLA brand net sales fell below those of the previous year due to the decreased revenue in the domestic business, operating profit increased year on year due to expense control and other factors.

ORBIS is working to expand its customer base through diversification of touchpoints and strengthen its profit structure centered on high-value-added skincare products as it aims for an even higher profit structure. In the domestic business, we are pursuing approaches to new customer segments and markets with growth potential, while also strengthening its customer base with high retention rates and high lifetime value through enhancing brand value. In addition, we continued to make marketing investments with an emphasis on cost-effectiveness, thereby promoting efficient customer acquisition. In the direct selling channel, strong sales of highly functional, higher-priced products contributed to an increase in unit purchase price. In the external channels, sales increased due to expanded customer contact points and strong sales of popular products, and overall performance in the domestic business exceeded that of the previous year. In the overseas business, while overall net sales fell below those of the previous year due to the impact of the liquidation of our Chinese subsidiary, there are signs of recovery and expansion in demand in ASEAN and East Asia. As a result of the above, ORBIS brand net sales and operating profit exceeded those of the previous year.

Jurlique continues to work toward business growth in Australia and in the markets of Asia, mainly in China. In Australia, the home country of the brand, the performance of the directly operated retail store channel fell below that of the previous year, while the department store and e-commerce channels performed steadily, resulting in overall performance exceeding that of the previous year. In China, although the e-commerce channel achieved double-digit growth, performance fell below that of the previous year due to sluggish performance of the department store and cross-border e-commerce channels, as well as the impact of store closures. As a result of the above, Jurlique brand net sales fell below those of the previous year on a local currency basis but exceeded those of the previous year due to foreign exchange effects. In addition, operating loss narrowed as a result of the optimization of selling, general and administrative expenses in line with the progress of structural reforms.

For brands under development, DECENCIA is expanding its business base for sustainable growth by strengthening its customer base with a focus on investment efficiency. THREE is working to build a customer base and regenerate its brand by appealing to its unique value centered on a holistic approach. In addition, sales from the new Kaokara and Dive businesses have increased and are contributing to earnings. Meanwhile, with the recording of expenses related to the Group's basic research, overall net sales for brands under development decreased year on year, and operating loss widened.

As a result of the factors noted above, net sales—sales to external customers—were ¥121,934 million, up 1.3% year on year, and operating profit was ¥14,507 million, up 22.4% year on year.

Real Estate

The Real Estate segment concentrates on the leasing of office buildings in urban areas. Efforts are currently directed at sustaining and improving rental income and reducing vacancy rates by creating attractive office environments. Another area of emphasis is the residential properties rental business. This business highlights condominiums perfect for families with young children. During the nine months of fiscal 2026, net sales and operating profit increased year on year thanks to an increase in the rental income from office buildings, among other factors.

As a result of the above, net sales—sales to external customers—totaled ¥2,339 million, up 4.5% year on year, and operating profit was ¥519 million, up 38.4% year on year.

Others

The Others segment is the building maintenance business.

The building maintenance business is engaged in the operation and management of buildings, renovation work, and more. During the nine months of fiscal 2026, net sales and operating profit increased year on year due to an increase in renovation works, among other factors.

As a result of the above, net sales—sales to external customers—totaled ¥2,399 million, up 2.0% year on year, and operating profit was ¥170 million, up 36.6% year on year.

(2) Explanation of Consolidated Financial Position

As of September 30, 2026, total assets stood at ¥193,148 million, down 2.4%, or ¥4,757 million, from December 31, 2025. Factors related to this change included increases of ¥6,654 million in investment securities, ¥5,018 million in securities and ¥1,012 million in raw materials and supplies, as well as decreases of ¥14,449 million in cash and deposits, ¥1,766 million in "other" under current assets due to a decrease in deposits and ¥1,253 million in notes and accounts receivable – trade.

Total liabilities amounted to ¥32,546 million, down 6.5%, or ¥2,265 million, from December 31, 2025. Factors related to this change included increases of ¥1,399 million in income taxes payable, ¥795 million in notes and accounts payable – trade, and ¥486 million in provision for bonuses, as well as decreases of ¥3,007 million in accounts payable – other and ¥1,811 million in "other" under current liabilities due to a decrease in accrued consumption taxes.

Net assets amounted to ¥160,602 million, down 1.5%, or ¥2,492 million, from December 31, 2025. Factors related to this change included an increase of ¥9,182 million resulting from the recognition of profit attributable to owners of parent and a decrease of ¥11,524 million due to the payment of dividends from retained earnings.

(3) Explanation of Consolidated Performance Forecast and Other Predictive Information

Due to the weaker-than-expected Japanese yen during the first nine months of fiscal 2026, resulting in higher foreign exchange gains, the Group has decided to revise its consolidated performance forecast for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2026 which was announced on February 13, 2026 as follows.
